P.O.O.O.O.

A cartoon illustration of a person with a headache standing in a park. The person is depicted as a simple black outline with a large, white, teardrop-shaped speech bubble coming from their head. The speech bubble contains the text "I... have a sudden headache...". The person is standing on a green lawn. In the background, there are several green trees with brown trunks, a chain-link fence, and a white fence. The sky is a pale yellow. The overall style is simple and cartoonish.

I... have a sudden
headache...

I guess
I better go
home...

Oh,
okay,
bye-bye

As far as the laws of mathematics refer to reality, they are not certain;
and as far as they are certain,
they do not refer to reality.*
